The Asa Whiting Estate, home to The Holliston Historical Society, is a wonderful place for your wedding, private party or business meeting. Set in a small New England town, our historic property is a fine example of life in the mid 1800's. The house is decorated with period paint and wallpaper. The furniture, including a Steinway from 1860, is typical of the time and accents the front parlor and dining room. The large meeting room can be set for a dinner, tea or business meeting. The barn, with a capacity of 100, was restored in the 1970's, with the addition of rest rooms and a polished, concrete floor. Both buildings have large kitchens with ample refrigeration, commercial ranges, microwaves and plenty of workspace. Renters have access to the property from 9 am until 11 PM. There is parking on the grounds and street parking is permitted for overflow.
